A DISCIPLESHIP MOVEMENT!

*“Therefore go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything I have commanded you.” –
Matthew 28:19-20*

I am not much of a chef – or a baker for that matter. If I were going to bake something, I’d need explicit instructions ... starting with where to find the baking pans, spatulas and ingredients in my own kitchen! So the truth is out. I survive off other people’s cooking

When Jesus told us to go and make disciples of all nations, He didn’t give explicit instructions. He did instruct us to “baptize and teach,” but as the multitude of Christian church styles and denominations reveals – there is a lot of variety in exactly how to do that. Virtually every Christian church’s mission statement can be boiled down in one way or another to the Great Commission given by Jesus – “go and make disciples.” And truly, that is something to be thankful for. We are all trying to carry out what Jesus left us to do until He returns.

In an attempt to navigate the multitude of methods and strategies of carrying out the Great Commission, several myths about making disciples seem to have developed in church circles. Using an excerpt from the book “From Followers to Leaders”¹ that I received during my most recent PLI Missional Leader training in Cary, NC in February, let me help us debunk some myths about developing disciples.

Myth: developing disciples is about having the right program to run people through.

The reality is that developing disciples is primarily a relational process centered on the individual, not the system. The most effective starting point is the person, not the program. Whether it was Nicodemus (John 3:1-21, or the woman at the well (John 4:1-26), Jesus started with the person. He didn’t tell them that his next training program began in 3 weeks; the signup was in the lobby. He taught them what they needed to learn when they needed to learn it.

Myth: developing disciples is a synonym for training.

The reality is that training constitutes one small piece of discipleship, and it doesn't always look like classroom training. There's a certain amount of knowledge that needs to be imparted, that is true. But often the most important things that we learn are better "caught than taught." That's one reason why I love our Wednesday morning prayer and study group. We may be looking at a passage that we've all heard before. We all "know" it - but we all grow by learning how the other person applies it to their life or the situation being discussed.

Myth: developing disciples correctly means treating them all the same and expecting that they will all turn out the same.

The reality is that each potential disciple has different God-given gifts, capacities, and callings. Developing a quiet intercessor will look very different from developing an international missionary. And it should. Disciples do not all look the same, nor do we all have the same work to do. (Ephesians 2:10)

Myth: discipleship begins with mature Christians.

The reality is that because we are whole beings, developing disciples is a holistic process. Discipleship actually begins with pre-Christians. One of the most exciting areas of discipleship that Rachele and I look forward to exploring in our missional community is bringing pre-Christians into our discussion group alongside more mature Christians. We won't all be at the same starting point, but we will all grow together.

Myth: discipleship primarily focuses on skills.

The reality is that skills are only one piece of the whole pie. Effective discipleship takes into account the individual as a personal, social, emotional, spiritual being. Any compartmentalization of these areas of our lives is artificial. One of the tides and misconceptions in the church that we need to combat is that "church stuff" only happens inside the church. We need to carry our discipleship into our workplaces, marketplaces and homes. And we need to allow our members to see personal, social and family interactions as valid places where faith is developed and expressed.

After all, this is how Jesus did it. Luke chapter 11 starts when Jesus was just doing life with his disciples and one of them said "teach us to pray." Luke chapter 6 starts as Jesus was going through the grain fields with his disciples. It was then that they were ready to learn about the Sabbath, and so it was then that Jesus taught them.

I pray that we are all willing to be used by God in the process of making disciples wherever we are. May this be a movement that starts now and continues until the Lord calls us home!

Making disciples with you,
- Pastor Augie

MOTHER'S DAY BRUNCH

Once again our Redeemer youth hosted a great Mother's Day breakfast between the first and second service. Though it was a little cool, we were thankful the forecast, which had everything from rain to heavy winds, didn't occur. The pancakes, sausage and fruit were all good and everyone appreciated that it was prepared and served by our youth. Their duties ranged from trimming the flowers, setting the tables, assembling the fruit cups, making the pancakes and then serving both the food and the drink. Thanks to all the youth who volunteered to help – Bain, Deo, Eddie, Jonah, Kendall, Maggie, Tessia.

From the feedback I received, this was a welcome treat for all the Moms who attended and we were happy to be a part of it.

A little history: Since the early Christian Church this day has been celebrated; originally to honor the Virgin Mary. Early on, in England, they called the day Mothering Sunday. The first Mother's Day observance in the U.S. was a church service in 1908 requested by Anna Jarvis (never became a mother), of Philadelphia, to honor her deceased mother. I think the best quote for Mother's Day was from George Washington, who said "My mother was the most beautiful woman I ever saw. All I am I owe to my mother. I attribute all my success in life to the moral, intellectual and physical education I received from her." Happy Mother's Day!

- Dan Bitner

Also thanks to Ken Voertman and Michael VanDuker for preparing the pancake batter; Jerry Meyer for keeping the grills loaded and Jeffrey Urdahl, Ken Boland, Charles Um and Belinda Lanois for helping where needed. It's always a timing challenge to have things ready for the rush after the first service and everyone stepped up and made it all work, with only minimum anxiety .

SUNDAY SCHOOL

It's hard to believe that summer is here and with that, we have adjusted our programs to meet those needs. On May 28th, the 8:30 Sunday School was suspended and we started holding Sunday School during the 10:30 service only. A Children's Message will be provided during the 8:30 service, however, the children will return to their seats and remain in church with their parents. During the summer, the children will be working on some fun projects as we prepare for Rally Day in August. Our summer program is entitled "Hands on Bible" which is fun and interactive for the children. Come and check us out!

In addition, we will be promoting our children in June to align with the public school promotions. The schedule will be sent home with each child in June – keep an eye out for it or see me for details!

A big thank you to everyone who helps with Sunday School; I really appreciate you. If you are interested in being a part of the Sunday School program, please let me know.

Until next time, keep serving the Lord....

GROWTH GROUPS

Our Growth Groups continue to provide people an opportunity to connect with other believers and do life together in a supportive and faith-nurturing cluster of friends. Visit our web site for a complete listing and information concerning our Growth Groups.

BRIDGE GROUP

Lunch was served 12 noon on May 26th, 2017, when we met in the dining room at Carlsbad-By-The-Sea with the hostess, Audrey Wickstrand, and then adjourned to her home for bridge. It was a sunny afternoon and the ocean sported many shades of delicious blue colors from her balcony so if the cards dealt were not exciting the views certainly were!

Jo Voertman was high scorer, followed very closely by second high scorer Marie Voien. The Bridge Coordinator was grateful for the lovely outdoor views because her score hovered below 1000 points.

June 23rd we will meet at the home of Evelyn Meyer at 12:30 for dessert and refreshments and some challenging hands of bridge once again!

If you are interested in playing with this group either as a regular or as a substitute I certainly would enjoy hearing from you.

I may be reached by phone: 760-707-6677 or with an e-mail: baconfaye3@gmail.com. We meet on the 4th Friday of the month, with the exception of November when we meet on the 3rd Friday and in December we do not meet as a group.

God is Good! He gives us talents, friends, family members, a beautiful church where we worship and serve others, a pastor who shares scripture and prayer time together and the inexhaustible list of God's greatness goes on and on for which we are indeed grateful.

See you in church!

SALT & LIGHT

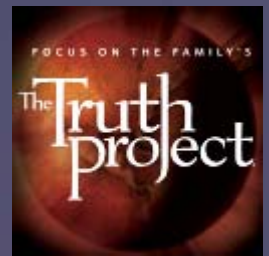

Salt & Light Ministry will be presenting a lesson from the Truth Project entitled 'The American Experiment', June 4, 11, and 25. The series discusses the unchanging Truths of God and how it is being reversed by the secular beliefs of our modern world. While for many nations this seems like a logical path to follow, our nation is different. We were founded on the Truth that our liberties came from God and not man and the Truth Project points out what the dangers are if we forget it.

In 1991, Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher reminded us of the exceptional nature of America saying, "Americans and Europeans alike sometimes forget how unique is the United States of America. No other nation has been built upon an idea, the idea of liberty." And from where did this idea of liberty come? None other than Jefferson's words in the Declaration of Independence, "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among them are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." America was unique because the American government officially believed in a Divine Creator. The government then would be limited because it believed there was a Higher Authority to which they were answerable. A secular government can never be a limited government because it recognizes no authority other than itself; no rights other than those it grants.

Alexis de Tocqueville (1805-1859), a French historian and theorist wrote in his book, Democracy in America that, "The Americans combine the notions of Christianity and liberty so intimately in their minds that it is impossible to make them conceive one without the other." Our history is rife with examples of our founders using prayer to guide their actions along with public acknowledgements of God's interventions on their behalf (i.e. Washington's survival in the French and Indian War, victory in the Revolutionary War, successfully crafting a Constitution that has lasted longer than any other nations' constitution in modern times).

So, what happens when a nation turns away from God? Come and hear what The Truth Project has to say. Leaders like Washington, Lincoln, S. Adams, J. Adams and many more weighed in on this subject by taking heed of 1 Samuel 2:30 "Those who honor Me I will honor, and those who despise Me will be disdained."

Your Salt & Light Co-Leader,
- Jerry Meyer

SUNDAY MORNING - ADULT BIBLE CLASS 9:45 – 10:30 AM

The June Sunday morning adult Bible Class will be looking at the Truth Project—for more information see the Salt and Light article on page 5.

The Sunday study of the Lutheran Confessions will resume again in July. Rev. Roy Faulstick will moderated the class. This October will mark the 500th anniversary of the REFORMATION. We will continue to examine how our Lutheran Confessions actually do teach what the Bible teaches. The Bible is the most studied and written about book in the history of mankind. The three major religions of the human race [Judaism, Christianity, Islam] mark their beginning and derive some teachings from the pages of this one book. Countless sects, cults and superstitions claim the Bible as the source of at least part of their beliefs. Can they all be true? Christians study the Bible to make sure that what they believe is really what the Bible does say. Why not study your Bible with us on Sunday morning? Questions and discussion are encouraged. Everyone is invited!

PARENTING CHRISTIAN KIDS: REMIND KIDS THEY'RE MADE IN GOD'S IMAGE

We are going to explore how children view their physical bodies—and how parents can encourage positive body image through God's eyes.

Children as young as 5 are becoming critical of their build and appearance. Media, music, ads, toys, social media, and peer pressure all contribute to the problem of low self-esteem and poor body-image issues.

What kids see and hear at home matters, too. They notice parents' negative comments and attitudes about their bodies, which may give kids the impression that our value is based solely on physical appearance and attributes.

The good news is that children pick up on our positive comments and attitudes, too. Parents can go a long way toward promoting healthy body image by taking these steps:

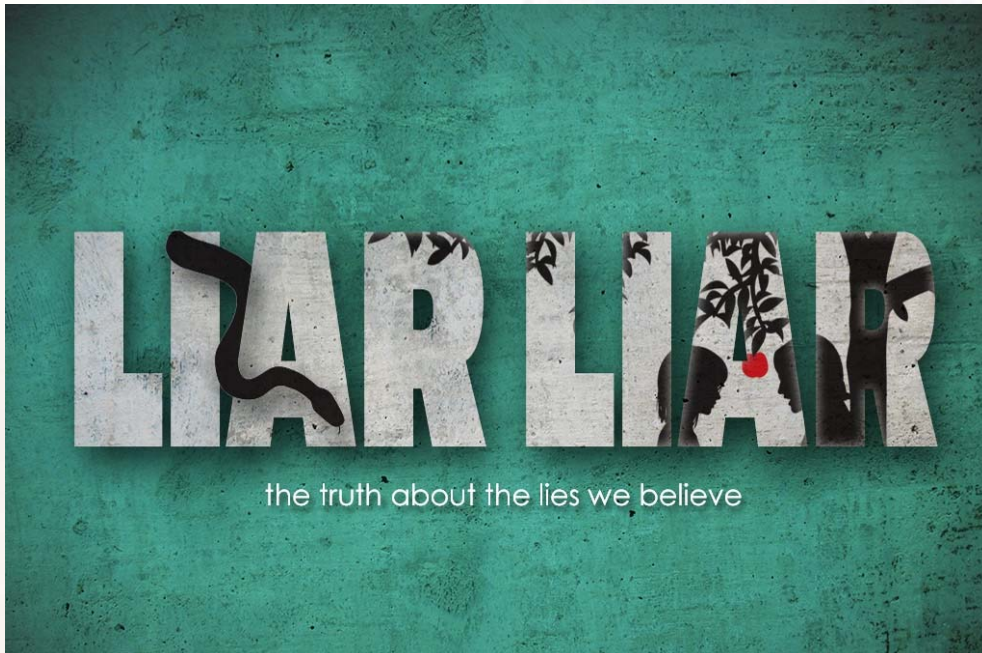

- Emphasize that God created our bodies and even calls them his temple (1 Corinthians 6:19).
- Together, read Bible verses about Jesus' love and acceptance (Matthew 6:26; Mark 10:13-16).
- Accept yourself. Don't obsess over pounds and calories.
- Model healthy eating. Show kids how to make wise food choices and how to listen to hunger signals.
- Give honest compliments and celebrate God-given strengths.
- Teach children to persevere, and pray with them for guidance.

"I praise you because I am fearfully and wonderfully made; your works are wonderful, I know that full well."

—Psalm 139:14, NIV
